

BARNSELY BOUNDARY WALK

The Barnsley Boundary Walk is made up of twelve short walks joined to form a continuous route some 73 miles (117 km) in length, mainly through the Metropolitan Borough of Barnsley, but also in parts of Kirklees, Wakefield, Doncaster, and Sheffield.

You can join the route at any point and enjoy one or more sections to suit your time and energies, and travel arrangements.

This Leaflet is one of a series of six designed not only to show you the route but also to point out and explain many of the interesting facts and features to be discovered along the way.

The walk roughly follows the boundary of the Metropolitan Borough of Barnsley through a great variety of landscapes from the moorland of Dunford, the wooded environs of Wharnccliffe, the historic parks at Cannon Hall, Bretton and Wortley, and the wetlands of the Lower Dearne. Landscapes rich in social, economic and natural history.

As you enjoy the Boundary Walk please respect the interests of those who live and work in the countryside.

Over Woolley Edge ...

This section of the Barnsley Boundary Walk ventures into Wakefield District across the open farm land and along quiet lanes south of Woolley and Notton villages.

The landscape remains essentially agricultural but the influence of former coal mining is still clearly evident. The activity at the former Woolley Colliery and its part reclaimed spoil heap are prominent below Woolley Edge. Dismantled mineral railways also remain and provide our route at Old Royston. North west of Royston the walk coincides with the Trans Pennine Trail, a national coast to coast multi-user recreational route. This section is on the feeder route from Wakefield to Barnsley and largely follows the Barnsley Canal now disused but formerly regionally significant for the transport of coal.

1 Our walk starts from the car park at the main entrance to Bretton Country Park off the A637 Huddersfield Road, close to M1 Junction 38 at Haigh. Head for the motorway junction carefully crossing the A637 as you go, then pass under the motorway and turn left into Haigh Lane.

2 Turn right by the telephone kiosk in Haigh Lane on to Moorhouse Lane passing Near Moor Farm as you go. Follow the path uphill towards Woolley Edge Lane.

3 The footpath climbs alongside the reclaimed Woolley Colliery tip, and enters woodland before reaching Woolley Edge Lane. Turn right and follow the roadside until you reach Windhill Gate Farm. Turn left here up the lane towards Wheatley Wood.

4 After the abandoned mine workings turn left just before the entrance to Wheatley Wood. Follow the paths around the wood moving down towards Woodhouse Lane.

5 Turn left onto Warren Lane and walk carefully along the roadside. Before you reach the busy A61 Wakefield to Barnsley road there is a picnic area; why not stop for refreshments if you feel the need. Carefully cross the main road then turn right into Keepers Lane and head towards Notton village.

6 At Notton village turn right following the footpath crossing the farmyard as you go. Continue uphill and onward to the wooded valley of Applehaigh Clough.

7 Turn left past Applehaigh Farm then bear right on the track before reaching Bleakley Lane, the main road on the outskirts of Royston.

Wheatley Wood/Woolley Church

8 Here the route joins the Royston and Carlton Boundary Walk to ascend and follow the trackbed of the former Great Central Railway.

9 Just before reaching the Barnsley Canal turn left and cross a bridge over another dismantled railway. Bear right by the field edge to join the Trans Pennine Trail heading towards Notton Lane.

10 Notton Bridge carries the road over a railway. High Bridge carries the road over the Barnsley Canal. The Trans Pennine Trail descends to join the canal footpath. The Barnsley Boundary Walk continues along Navy Lane.
